Welcome to Saddleback's Illustrated Classics<sup>TM</sup>

We are proud to welcome you to Saddleback's Illustrated Classics<sup>TM</sup>. Saddleback's Illustrated Classics<sup>TM</sup> was designed specifically for the classroom to introduce readers to many of the great classics in literature. Each text, written and adapted by teachers and researchers, has been edited using the Dale-Chall vocabulary system. In addition, much time and effort has been spent to ensure that these high-interest stories retain all of the excitement, intrigue, and adventure of the original books.

With these graphically Illustrated Classics<sup>TM</sup>, you learn what happens in the story in a number of different ways. One way is by reading the words a character says. Another way is by looking at the drawings of the character. The artist can tell you what kind of person a character is and what he or she is thinking or feeling.

This series will help you to develop confidence and a sense of accomplishment as you finish each novel. The stories in Saddleback's Illustrated Classics<sup>TM</sup> are fun to read. And remember, fun motivates!

Reading is one of the most important skills you will ever learn. It provides the key to all kinds of information. By reading the Illustrated Classics™, you will develop confidence and the self-satisfaction that comes from accomplishment—a solid foundation for any reader.

Step-By-Step

The following is a simple guide to using and enjoying each of your Illustrated Classics™. To maximize your use of the learning activities provided, we suggest that you follow these steps:

1. Listen! We suggest that you listen to the read-along. (At this time, please ignore the beeps.) You will enjoy this wonderfully dramatized presentation.
2. Pre-reading Activities. After listening to the audio presentation, the pre-reading activities in the Activity Book prepare you for reading the story by setting the scene, introducing more difficult vocabulary words, and providing some short exercises.
3. Reading Activities. Now turn to the “While you are reading” portion of the Activity Book, which directs you to make a list of story-related facts. Read-along while listening to the audio presentation. (This time pay attention to the beeps, as they indicate when each page should be turned.)
4. Post-reading Activities. You have successfully read the story and listened to the audio presentation. Now answer the multiple-choice questions and other activities in the Activity Book.

Remember,

“Today’s readers are tomorrow’s leaders.”

Herman Melville

Herman Melville was born in 1819. His formal education ended in 1834, at age fifteen. For a time he was both clerk and school teacher, but the sea was his first love. He became a cabin boy on a merchant ship bound for England. Later, in 1841, Melville joined the crew of a whaling ship, the Acushnet, where he learned much of the background for Moby Dick.

Melville was influenced by the writing of Nathaniel Hawthorne and dedicated Moby Dick to him. Melville felt that Hawthorne had an insight into human nature that few could surpass.

Melville, too, knew mankind mainly from living in many cultures. His life with the Taipis, cannibal natives, led him to write Typee. From a mutiny he experienced, he wrote Omoo. One of his later books, and most heartrending, is Billy Budd—the story of a young and severely abused seaman.

In spite of his unusual creative ability, Melville spent nineteen years of his life as a customs officer in the ports of New York City. Not until after his death was he truly appreciated as an author. Today, Moby Dick is considered to be one of the greatest, if not the greatest, American novels.

Moby Dick

HERMAN MELVILLE

THE MAIN CHARACTERS

Some years ago, with nothing to interest me on shore, I thought I would sail about a little and see the oceans of the world. I loved to sail dangerous seas and land on foreign coasts. I had already made a number of voyages on trading ships and now set out to go whaling. I had no idea I would meet the mad Captain Ahab and hunt for the great white whale which men called Moby Dick.

I landed in New Bedford on a Saturday night in December. I was very unhappy to learn that the boat for Nantucket had already sailed. There was no way of reaching Nantucket until Monday.

What a bitter night! I must find somewhere to stay.

I soon came to an inn.

Spouter? Coffin! Rather evil sounding—but I'll risk it.

Inside, I found the landlord.

My house is full. But wait! You have no objection to sharing a bed with a harpooneer, have you?

But at twelve o'clock the harpooneer still hadn't come in.

I took the landlord's advice. But I had not been asleep long before I awakened and. . .

Lord save me!
The harpooneer!

First he prayed to a stone god. Then, undressing, he lit up a tomahawk which he used as a pipe.

Putting out the lamp, he jumped into bed.

Who-ee
devil you?
Speak
or I kill!

Landlord,
save me!

Why didn't you tell me
he was a wild man?

Don't be afraid.
Queequeg wouldn't harm a hair of your head.

After some thought.

Then we went to the Whaleman's Chapel, where we heard a special talk by Father Mapple.

Shipmates, sin not! But if you do,
ask to be forgiven like Jonah!

Returning to the inn, we had a friendly smoke together.

We friends.
We go whaling together.

And so, on Monday, we took the boat to Nantucket.

In Nantucket, Queequeg asked his stone god, Yojo, for help.

And so I set out among the many ships. Of the ships in port, I picked the Pequod. On deck, in a tent supported by whale bone, I found Captain Peleg, a Quaker and owner of one of the boats.

Queequeg jumped into a whale-boat hanging at the side.

You see small drop of tar on water. Suppose it whale eye. Watch then!

If him whale eye—why, the whale dead!

Quick, Bildad, get the ship's papers! We must have Hedgehog there, I mean Quohog! And we'll give him more than ever was given a harpooner out of Nantucket!

As we left the ship we met an old sailor.

Then, on a cold Christmas day, we sailed, with Bildad and Peleg to lead us out of the port.

Man the anchor!
Blood and thunder. . . jump!

Move it, you men! Pull and lift it, you men. Heave, thou Quohog!

At last Peleg and Bildad said their good-byes and got into the pilot boat. Ship and boat moved in different directions, and we sailed into the wide Atlantic, not knowing what waited for us out there.

We were a crew from many countries.

Our officers were Chief Mate Starbuck — tall, and careful. . . .

Happy-go-lucky Stubb, the Second Mate. . . .

*And Flask, the Third
Mate, who lived to kill.*

But for several days nothing was seen of Captain Ahab.

Then one day, I saw him on the quarter-deck. Something about him made me afraid.

You men on top of the mastheads, there! Look sharp... there are whales around here! If you see a white one, yell the signal.

A white whale? ...there's something special in the wind, something strange!

Not long after, Ahab gave an order usually only for emergencies. . . .

Send everybody to the rear!

Sir? Yes, sir, everybody to the rear.

The entire ship's company came together.

You have heard me give orders about a white whale. Look you! Do you see this coin of gold?

He nailed the coin to the main mast.

Whosoever of you spots me a white whale with a wrinkled brow and a crooked jaw. . . he shall have this gold, boys!

That white whale must be the one some call Moby Dick!

And one cloudy afternoon. . . .

*The order to lower the boats into the water was given and we set out
to find the whale.*

I was in Starbuck's boat and soon. . .

Row, boys, row!
There's a storm coming, but we've still time to kill a whale!

All night we floated in our water-filled boat. . . .

At dawn. . . .

Look out
men! Jump!

Our own ship had hit us in the dark but we were quickly rescued.

But there were other days, and other whales. On one chase, Stubb's boat led the rest.

Give it to him, Tashtego!

Changing places with the harpooner, Stubb dug his spear into the whale.

The whale went into its flurry, churning the water. . . .

Night was coming on... and so were the sharks.

You two... stay out there and keep the sharks off, or they'll eat the whale before we can get to it.

Aye, Mr. Stubb.

And so, all that night....

Blast you sharks! Look for your dinner somewhere else.

Ka-la! Koo-loo! Me kill-ee!

Next day, with hook and chain, the blubber was cut from the whale.

The peeled white body was cut loose and drifted away.

The blubber was cut into smaller pieces!

Then the blubber was boiled down into oil in a large pot.

At night, in the darkness, the ship seemed to be on fire.

In the morning the whale's head was pulled up so that the very valuable oil called spermaceti could be taken from a case inside the head.

Tashtego climbed on top of the head and dug a hole with a sharp spade.

He pushed a bucket into the hole with a long pole.

Time and again the bucket was lifted up to the deck, where the oil was emptied into a tub.

Then... a slip of the foot... and...

H-help!

The head tore from the hooks, dropped, and slowly began to sink into the sea.

Many a whale did we catch as we sailed southward, but Ahab had only one thought.

He heard a footstep at the door, and. . .

Grabbing a loaded gun, Ahab aimed at Starbuck.

A little later on the deck. . .

After the barrels were repaired the Pequod sailed on, and. . .

Ahab made the harpoon ready, not in water, but in blood drawn from the harpooneers.

As we sailed in the Japan seas, a storm broke on us from a cloudless sky.

By night, the ship's sails were torn. The sky and sea rocked with thunder and lightning.

As the men worked to save the ship. . . .

Who's there?

Old thunder! Ahab, the captain

Look in the sky! Look at the sparks!

The metal and three pointed lightning rods on the masts glowed with a silent flame. Seamen called this the St. Elmo's fire.

Although the men had all seen this kind of thing before, they watched, frozen in their shoes.

Ahab held the chain of the main-mast lightning rod.

But Ahab held the burning harpoon!

With one breath he blew out the flame.

The storm ended, and some hours later Starbuck went to Ahab's cabin to report that new sails had been put up and the ship was again on course.

Then within the stateroom, Ahab cried out in his sleep.

Sailing on, the Pequod met the Rachel, another whaler from Nantucket.

The captain of the Rachel came aboard the Pequod.

The captain went back to the Rachel, to continue the search. We watched her as she sailed swiftly away. . . .

From his high seat on top of the mast Ahab watched the sea.

Not long after. . . .

So little time have I spent on land. . . my wife's been alone since I wed her. What a forty years' fool has old Ahab been!

In your eyes, as in a magic glass, I see my home. . . and yours! Stay aboard the Pequod when Ahab gives chase to Moby Dick! The danger shall not be yours. You shall live to see home again!

Oh, my captain! Give up the chase of that hated monster! Let us turn back, and you, too, shall see home again!

Some nameless thing keeps me here. Some hidden lord and master drives me on . . . I dare not turn back.

Silently, without hope, Starbuck slipped away.

That night, Ahab suddenly smelled the sea air. . . .

That strange odor. . . it's a whale! Moby Dick is near!

Next morning, he ordered all hands on deck.

See you nothing?
No sign of the white whale?
Pull me aloft!

As he was pulled up the main mast, . . .

There she blows! A hump like a snow-hill!
It is Moby Dick! I saw him first! The gold coin is mine!
Lower me, . . quick!

As the boats raced toward the monster. . .

Changing places, Ahab went to the bow and looked down.

The whale swam upwards, turning on its back, and. . .

Look out,
captain!

His jaws slowly closed on the boat. . .but one of his teeth caught on an oarlock.

Ahab grabbed the long tooth trying to work it free.

Suddenly the jaws slipped from him, and. . .

The whale caused the water to turn so that Ahab barely kept above it.

Then the Pequod, which had been standing by, sailed up.

Sail on the whale! Drive him away!

The whale was driven off, and the boats flew to the rescue.

Next day, Ahab again sighted the whale.

There she blows! There she blows in the waves!

Look for the last time at the sun, Moby Dick! Thy hour and thy harpoon are at hand!

In a few moments. . . .

Lower the boats! Mr. Starbuck, stay aboard and look after the ship!

This time the whale rushed at the boats. . . .

. . . .then dashed his head against the bottom of Ahab's boat.

Again the Pequod rescued the men and boats.

Let me lean on you, Starbuck. . . my ivory leg is broken. But I will kill the white whale yet, even if I circle the world ten times; and even dive right through it!

The next day the weather was clear. After an hour's watching. . .

Again Ahab gave the order for the chase, and. . .

As the boats started forward, Moby Dick turned the water furiously.

Rushing head on, the whale overturned two boats, but left Ahab's almost without a scar.

While the two boats were brought aboard the ship to be repaired, Ahab's boat, alone, chased the whale.

The sharks are chewing up the oars!

They will last long enough!
Pull on!

With a curse, Ahab threw the harpoon.

It sank deep, but the whale pushed on, and the line snapped.

Suddenly, as the Pequod sailed up, the whale turned toward the ship.

The men on the Pequod saw the monster coming at them.

Oars! On men! Save my ship!

But it was too late, the whale hit the ship, the waters poured in. . . .

Death to my ship! Must she die?
And without me? Am I not able to go down with my ship as is the wish of all brave captains? Oh lonely death after a lonely life.

Ho! Towards you I come, you monster whale. To the end of my life I will fight with you.

From my heart I
stab you; for hate's sake I spit my last breath at you! Thus
I give up the spear!

Again the harpoon struck. The whale flew forward.

The line got tangled. Ahab bent to clear it, but the flying turn caught him around the neck.

He was shot out of the boat, and disappeared into the waves.

For an instant the boat's crew stood, as though in a trance.

Great God,
where is the ship?

The ship, too, was disappearing into the ocean. And now drawn by the suction of the sinking ship, the small boat and all in it, and the smallest chip of the Pequod, were carried out of sight under the waves.

Then all was finished, and the great blanket of sea rolled on as it rolled five thousand years ago.

On the second day, a sail drew near. It was the Rachel, that in her search after her missing children, only found another orphan.

And I
alone escaped to tell thee.

Moby Dick

*One of the greatest sea novels ever written . . .
a true classic of world literature!*

Moby Dick is an exciting story about Captain Ahab's compelling obsession to get his revenge and defeat the Great White Whale . . . The story truly portrays the tragedy of hatred.

This timeless epic is considered one of the strangest yet most powerful stories ever written.
